

Japan - Latin America Academic Conference 2018 in Nikko
Workshop #5
Sustainable Management & Conservation of Oceanic and Coastal Ecosystems

September 26, 14:30-18:00

Agenda

1. Fish diets, an opportunity for sustainable management 14:30-14:45 (Jurij Wacyk, Univ. of Chile)
2. Marine reserves and connectivity of exploited populations 14:45-15:00 (Sergio Navarrete, Professor, Univ. Católica de Chile)
3. Biological diversity of copepoda in the ocean 15:00-15:15 (Atsushi Tsuda, Professor & Director of AORI, Univ. of Tokyo)
4. Exploitation of macroalgae and impacts on population genetics and diversity 15:15-15:30 (Sylvain Faugueron, Professor, Univ. Católica de Chile)
5. Morphology and identification of harmful red tide forming dinoflagellates in the Kareniaceae 15:30-15:45 (Mitsunori Iwataki, Associate Professor, Univ. of Tokyo)
6. Social capital and institutions on coastal fisheries management 15:45-16:00 (Hiroaki Sugino, Assistant Professor, Univ. of Tokyo)

16:00-16:30 Coffee Break

7. Sensing: towards a new challenge for sustainability 16:30-16:45 (Cristian Mattar, Professor, Univ. of Chile & Univ. of Aysén)
8. Co-management of fisheries in Eastern Caribbean states 16:45-17:00 (Mitsuhiro Ishida, Graduate student, Univ. of Tokyo)
9. Diversification of Chilean Aquaculture in Patagonia an Opportunity for Sustainable Development. The Case of native Microalgae and Artemia for HUFA production 17:00-17:15 (Pablo Gallardo O., University of Magallanes)
10. Price formation of fish at landing markets and its socio-economic implications 17:15-17:30 (Yuki Kinoshita, Graduate student, Univ. of Tokyo)
11. Areas for future collaborations 17:30-17:45 (Nobuyuki Yagi, Professor, Univ. of Tokyo)
12. General discussion 17:45-18:00 (Chair by Sergio Navarrete and Nobuyuki Yagi)